Mionetto Prosecco Brut, Italy - Regularly $13.99

Prosecco has quickly become one of the most successful sparkling wines made today. Produced only from an area between the towns of Conegliano and Valdobbiadene, the Mionetto family has been producing Prosecco wine in the heart of Valdobbiadene since 1887. Named for the ancient Prosecco grape, this sparkling wine is fresh and lively with intense fruity aromas. While this would make a lovely aperitif, it has enough character to drink with most pastas (even cream sauces), as well as shellfish.

2006 Markham Vineyards Sauvignon Blanc, Napa Valley - Regularly $14.99

In 1972, Bruce Markham arrived in Napa Valley with the dream of starting a winery. Intent on crafting world-class wines for years to come, he purchased the "little jewels" that are still the Markham vineyards today. He was a pioneer in what is now the very heart of Napa, buying premium vineyard land before many understood the tremendous potential the valley offered for producing fine wines. Markham Winery has the distinction of being the fourth oldest continuously operated winery in Napa County.

"The '06 Markham Sauvignon Blanc has bright citrus flavors--tangerine, Meyer lemon and lime--that are effusive and fruity, with a hint of rose water and juicy acidity." - 87 points Wine Spectator

2007 Marcel Martin Vouvray 'Le Droissey', France - Regularly $10.99

Did you know that the Loire is the third largest wine region in France and that the Loire River is the largest river in France? Famous for its natural beauty, magnificent châteaux and picturesque towns, the Loire Valley is also renowned for the exceptional quality, variety and affordability of its wines. Marcel Martin is a family owned winery that only produces two wines; Vouvray and Muscadet from the western part of the Loire Valley. Le Droissey is an off dry Vouvray made with 100% Chenin Blanc. The cool climate insures good acidity in this wine, which is balanced by the distinctly fruity character of the varietal, and the mineral qualities imparted by the soil. This Vouvray has been a favorite of ours year after year!

2006 Bianchi Signature Edna Valley Chardonnay, Paso Robles - Regularly $17.99

Do you love a buttery, rich, balanced Chardonnay? Well, if you do then this is your wine! The grapes are sourced from the Edna Valley Vineyard which has one of the longest growing seasons in California due to its close proximity to the ocean. This vineyard site is owned by the Chalone Wine Group and the Niven family and for many years has been a laboratory for Burgundian and Rhone varietals. Several different clones of Chardonnay, Pinot Noir, and Syrah are planted throughout the vineyard. The Bianchi Chardonnay has floral aromas of citrus, pineapple and kiwi, followed by a creamy, toasty finish. Only 62% is oak barrel fermented and sur-lie aged for six months creating a superbly balanced and intensely flavored wine. Glenn and his father purchased a winery and vineyard on the banks of the San Joaquin river in the Central Valley of California in 1974. It didn't take them long to start producing award winning wines. But Glenn wanted to do more, so in January of 2000 they purchased 40 acres of vineyards on the East side of Paso Robles and built a showcase winery and spectacular hospitality center. Now, they produce both their Heritage Collection, which are estate-grown, and the Signature Collection, that come from an array of renowned vineyards throughout California's Central Coast.
